Tonight's game at the Pistons is the first of four consecutive games on the road for the Warriors. This also begins the Warriors' sixth set of back-to-backs (Golden State has a 4-1 in the first game this season). The set concludes tomorrow night at Indiana. In the month of January, the Warriors play 11 home games, tied with New York for the most scheduled for this month. Conversely, Golden State has just three home games in February, tied for fewest in the league for that month. This is the first regular season meeting between the two teams, although they played each other in the preseason at Chase Center on October 13 (a 111-93 Golden State win). The Warriors have won six of the last eight meetings vs. the Pistons.

KUMINGA!

Warriors forward Jonathan Kuminga has scored 20-or-more points in three of the last five games he played in, averaging 23.8 points per game (54.9 FG%) in that span. Seven of his 11 20-point games this season have come off the bench.

On December 30 vs. Cleveland, Kuminga attempted a career-high-tying 14 free throws after setting it on December 27 at the Clippers. Kuminga had 12 on December 28 vs. the Suns. He is the first Warriors player to have at least 12 free throw attempts off the bench in three straight games since Corey Maggette had three such games in a row in March 2009.

Kuminga scored a career-high 34 points off the bench in two consecutive games, Dec. 27 at the Clippers and Dec. 28 vs. the Suns. With 10 rebounds at the Clippers and nine against the Suns, Kuminga became the first Warriors player to record at least 34 points and nine rebounds off the bench in two straight games and the second NBA player (Kevin McHale in February 1990) since 1970-71, when starters were first officially tracked, according to the Elias Sports Bureau.

This season, Kuminga is averaging 16.7 points per game in his 22 appearances as a reserve. His scoring average is the second highest (minimum 20 games), behind only Atlanta's De'Andre Hunter's 20.0 points per game average. Kuminga is the only player this season to have multiple 30-point games off the bench with two. He is the fifth Warriors player to have multiple 30-point games off the bench in a single season, joining Cazzie Russell (eight 30-point games in 1973-74), Purvis Short (five in 1979-80 and four in 1981-82), Sarunas Marciulionis (four in 1991-92), Jordan Poole (two in 2022-23).

BACK-TO-BACKS

This season, Golden State has 14 sets of back-to-back games after having a league-high 17 last season, the most back-to-back sets for the Warriors since the 2016-17 season when they had 17. The Warriors swept one set of back-to-backs and split four. Golden State is 4-1 in the first game and 2-3 in the second game of back-to-backs. In 2023-24, Golden State swept seven sets, split nine and were swept once. The Warriors were 13-4 in the first game of back-to-backs and 10-7 in the second game last season.

BENCH POWER

The Warriors' bench is averaging 46.4 points per game, second in the NBA, trailing only Memphis (47.2). The highest team bench scoring in a single season, since 1970-71 when starters were first officially tracked is 53.2 points per game by the 2018-19 Los Angeles Clippers. The Warriors' reserves have outscored their counterparts, 1,669-1,206 (+463, 46.4 ppg - 33.5 ppg), this season.

Golden State's bench has accounted for at least 40 points in 24 games this season (Warriors 14-10 in those games). To start the 2024-25 season, the Warriors reserves scored at least 40 points in 11 of the first 12 games this season, a first since starters were officially tracked in 1970-71, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. It also marked the first time in franchise history the Warriors' bench scored at least 40 points 11 times in an 12-game span during a single season. The Warriors reserves scored at least 50 points in eight of the first 12 games this season (7-1 record in those games). Four times this season the Warriors bench scored at least 70 points, most recently on November 8 at Cleveland (77 points).

The Warriors recorded at least 50 bench points six times in the first seven games (October 23 - November 4), a franchise first since starters were first tracked in 1970-71, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. The last team leaguewide to do it was the Pacers from Jan. 1-12, 2024 (in six of seven). There has been only one prior instance wherein any team had 50-or-more points from bench players in six-or-more of their first seven games of a season, since starters were first tracked in 1970-71: the 1999-00 Orlando Magic who did so in each of their first seven games that year.

Golden State's reserves scored 71 points in the season opener at Portland and 80 points at Utah in the second game. Since 1970-71 when starters were first recorded, this is the first time the Warriors' bench has scored at least 70 points in consecutive games, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. The last NBA team to accomplish it was the Utah Jazz, Aug. 10-13, 2020. The Warriors' combined 151 bench points in the first two games are the most for the franchise since 1970-71 and the most by an NBA team since the Miami Heat tallied 170 bench points from April 7-9, 2023.

According to the Elias Sports Bureau, it was the first time Wiggins had multiple 4-point plays in a game in his career and the first time it's happened this season. In the last 10 seasons (since 2015-16), a player has had multiple 4-point plays in a single game 28 times, and just seven times it's been accomplished in the same quarter. The last Warriors player to have at least two 4-point plays in a single game was Kevin Durant on Feb. 14, 2018 at Portland (twice in the third quarter).

He entered the game with 23,982 points, needing 18. Curry is the eighth player in NBA history to record at least 24,000 career points and 6,000 assists and just the fourth to do so with one franchise (Jerry West, John Havlicek and Kobe Bryant are the others).

SAME TEAM, BACK-TO-BACK

The Warriors and Pelicans faced each other in two consecutive days at Chase Center, October 29 and 30. The last time the Warriors played the same team in consecutive days was during the 2020-21 season when they played the Pelicans at New Orleans on May 3 and 4, 2021. This two-game set against the same opponent in consecutive days in the same arena marks the 26th time this has happened for the Warriors (Golden State 11-14 in first game, 7-18 in the second game; swept both games twice, split 14 times and was swept nine times).

The last time the Warriors played the same opponent in two straight days at home was in 1969-70, against Detroit, on December 2 and 3, 1969, per the Elias Sports Bureau. Playing the same opponent in consecutive days at home has happened 15 times for the Warriors in franchise history.
