BENCH POWER

The Warriors' bench is averaging 46.6 points per game, second in the NBA, trailing only Memphis (48.2). The highest team bench scoring in a single season, since 1970-71 when starters were first officially tracked is 53.2 points per game by the 2018-19 Los Angeles Clippers. The Warriors' reserves have outscored their counterparts, 1,165-824 (+341, 46.6 ppg - 33.0 ppg), this season.

Golden State's bench has accounted for at least 40 points in 16 games this season (Warriors 11-5 in those games). To start the 2024-25 season, the Warriors reserves scored at least 40 points in 11 of the first 12 games this season, a first since starters were officially tracked in 1970-71, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. It also marked the first time in franchise history the Warriors' bench scored at least 40 points 11 times in an 12-game span during a single season. The Warriors reserves scored at least 50 points in eight of the first 12 games this season (7-1 record in those games). Four times this season the Warriors bench scored at least 70 points, most recently on November 8 at Cleveland (77 points).

According to the Elias Sports Bureau, this was the first time the Warriors recorded at least 50 bench points six times in any single season seven-game span (October 23 - November 4), since starters were first tracked in 1970-71. The last team leaguewide to do it was the Pacers from Jan. 1-12, 2024 (in six of seven). There has been only one prior instance wherein any team had 50-or-more points from bench players in six-or-more of their first seven games of a season, since starters were first tracked in 1970-71: the 1999-00 Orlando Magic who did so in each of their first seven games that year.

Golden State's reserves scored 71 points in the season opener at Portland and 80 points at Utah in the second game. Since 1970-71 when starters were first recorded, this is the first time the Warriors' bench has scored at least 70 points in consecutive games, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. The last NBA team to accomplish it was the Utah Jazz, Aug. 10-13, 2020. The Warriors' combined 151 bench points in the first two games are the most for the franchise since 1970-71 and the most by an NBA team since the Miami Heat tallied 170 bench points from April 7-9, 2023.

Nakase takes the helm of the Valkyries following over 16 years of coaching professional basketball, including 10 seasons in the NBA with the Los Angeles Clippers, and three seasons as first assistant coach with the Las Vegas Aces (back-to-back WNBA championship in 2022 and 2023).
