HOT TAKES:

- The HEAT has held opponents to under 100 points six times this season, all wins.
- Miami is a perfect 7-0 when outrebounding their opponents this season.
- Since 12/4, Miami has the third-best offensive rating in the NBA (121.8), recording a 4-1 record over that span.
- Miami has currently won a season-high five-straight home games.

ALL-STAR VOTING: Voting for the NBA All-Star Game starters has begun and will run through 1/20. Fans can vote once a day via the NBA App and NBA.com with special '3-for-1 Days' in which votes will count triple on 12/21, 12/25, 1/3, 1/10, 1/17 and 1/20. Fans will account for 50 percent of the vote while all current players and a media panel will account for 25 percent each. Voting updates will be shared on 1/2, 1/9 and 1/16. The NBA All-Star event will take place on Sunday, February 16 in San Francisco. Starters will be revealed on 1/23 with reserves announced on 1/30.

BACK-TO-BACK: Tonight marks the first of a home-road back-to-back with another game tomorrow night in Orlando. It marks Miami's fifth of 15 back-to-backs this season, which is two more than last season. The HEAT will play a season-high four back-to-backs in December.

TRIPLE-DOUBLES: Jimmy Butler posted a season-high 35-point, career-high 19-rebound, season-high 10-assist triple-double at DET on 12/16 while also not recording a single turnover. He is the first player in NBA history to record at least those totals without a single turnover (since turnovers were tracked in 1977). It marks Butler's 13th triple-double as a member of the HEAT, the most in team history. Additionally, Bam Adebayo posted a 14-point, 10-rebound, 10-assist triple-double earlier this season on 11/29 vs. TOR, the eighth of his career and the third-most in franchise history. Below are the most triple-doubles in team history.

OH WHAT A NIGHT: The HEAT recorded a 41-point, 134-93, win vs. LAL on 12/4, marking the largest margin of victory by either team in their 73-game history while also tying Miami’s fourth-largest margin of victory against any team. The 134 points was a season-high as Miami dished out a franchise-record 42 assists. A team-tying record 10 different HEAT players each made at least one three-point field goal, finishing with a franchise-record 24 made treys. Additionally, Tyler Herro tied his career-high for points in a single quarter with 21 in the third, outscoring the Lakers by himself (20) while also becoming just the second player in team history to make at least seven three-point field goals in a quarter.

FIRST EVER: Bam Adebayo grabbed a season-high 20 rebounds while also dishing out seven assists at TOR on 12/1, becoming the only player in team history to record at least each of those totals in a game. Additionally, it marked as Adebayo’s third career 20-rebound game, tying both Alonzo Mourning and Kevin Willis for the third-most in franchise history. Only Rony Seikaly (21 times) and Hassan Whiteside (20 times) have done so on more occasions.

EVERYBODY GETS A THREE: Eight different HEAT players each connected on multiple three-point field goals in Miami’s, 121-111, win vs. TOR on 11/29, marking the most players to make multiple treys in a single game in franchise history. Setting the record were Tyler Herro (4), Terry Rozier III (4), Jimmy Butler (2), Haywood Highsmith (2), Bam Adebayo (2), Duncan Robinson (2), Kevin Love (2) and Jaime Jaquez Jr. (2).

MULTIPLE FROM DEEP: Tyler Herro connected on multiple three-point field goals in the first 13 games of the season, the longest such streak to start a season in franchise history. Additionally, Herro did so in 18-straight regular season games dating back to last season, the third-longest overall streak in team history. ERIK SPOELSTRA (Portland)Regular Season Coaching Record: 763-538, currently in 17th seasonPostseason Coaching Record: 110-79, 13 postseason appearances

Erik Spoelstra is currently in his 17th season as head coach of the HEAT and his 30th as a member of the organization. He was elevated to his current position on April 28, 2008. Spoelstra has totaled 13 postseason appearances, nine division titles, six conference championships and guided the franchise to a pair of NBA titles. Recognized as one of the game's best coaches, Spoelstra was selected as one of the NBA's 15 Greatest Coaches in NBA History and has earned Coach of the Month honors 10 times, tying the sixth-most in NBA history.

In his previous 16 seasons at the helm, Spoelstra has made his mark on the HEAT record book as the winningest coach in franchise history. Entering this season, he holds team records in wins, winning percentage and games coached. His 13 postseason appearances in his previous 16 seasons tie the second-most over that span in the NBA as Spoelstra has never missed the playoffs in consecutive seasons since becoming head coach as he also holds HEAT postseason records in wins, winning percentage, series won and games coached.

When Spoelstra first took over the head coaching duties in 2008, he was given the task of improving a young team that had been ravaged by injuries the previous season and had won just 15 games. He then recorded 43 wins in his first season, the most by a first year HEAT coach in team history, while on his way to a postseason berth. Miami became just the second team in NBA history to make the playoffs after winning 15-or-fewer games the previous season. The only other team to do so was the 1968-69 San Diego Rockets, in which HEAT President Pat Riley was a member of.

From 2010-14, Spoelstra took one of the most scrutinized teams and guided them to consecutive NBA Championships, four-straight Conference Championships and four consecutive NBA Finals appearances, becoming just the third franchise in NBA history to make four consecutive NBA Finals appearances, joining the Celtics and Lakers. It also made them just one of 10 franchises in the four major North American sports leagues to make four consecutive trips to the league championship. Individually, Spoelstra became just the fourth head coach in NBA history to lead his team to four-straight Finals appearances joining Red Auerbach, K.C. Jones and Pat Riley. Spoelstra also joined a very elite fraternity when he led the HEAT to a seven-game series win over the San Antonio Spurs in the 2013 NBA Finals. Upon capturing the 2013 NBA Championship he became one of just 13 head coaches in NBA history to have won multiple championships and only the eighth to win a championship in consecutive seasons.

The 2012 championship culminated a compressed 2011-12 season in which Miami went 46-20 and captured its second consecutive Southeast Division title. The regular season was highlighted by a nine-game win streak (Feb. 10-Mar. 1) with each victory a double-digit win. During that streak the HEAT became the first team to win road games on three consecutive nights (Feb. 12-14) since December of 1979 and the first to win each of those contests by double-digits since the 1970-71 season.

Before taking over as the sixth head coach in HEAT history, Spoelstra had served Miami in a number of roles in his first 13 years. He was originally hired as video coordinator and over the years was promoted to assistant coach/video coordinator, assistant coach/advance scout and assistant coach/director of scouting, a title he held during Miami's 2006 NBA Championship, before ascending to head coach. He made a name for himself around the league with his game preparation and superb attention to detail. In his seven seasons as the HEAT's assistant coach/director of scouting, he had the primary role of developing game plans for upcoming opponents. To that end, he coordinated the video staff and advance scouts while overseeing the development of scouting reports and videos.

In 1992, he graduated from the University of Portland with a degree in communications. While attending Portland, Spoelstra was the starting point guard for four years and was named the West Coast Conference Freshman of the Year in 1989. Upon graduating he spent two years as a player/coach for Tus Herten, a team in the professional sports league of Germany.

He has returned to his native Philippines to host clinics and promote education, health and wellness to thousands of at-risk youth through grassroots programs and events. The nine-day program in Manila in the summer of 2011 was the largest NBA FIT event ever hosted in Southeast Asia under the NBA Cares umbrella. In the summer of 2012, Coach Spoelstra expanded his reach into other Southeast Asia nations by conducting coaches clinics and other FIT activities in Singapore.

Raised in Portland, OR, Spoelstra, who was inducted into the Jesuit High School Athletic Hall of Fame in September 2009, is the first Asian/Filipino-American head coach in any of the major North American sports leagues. Spoelstra is the son of Jon Spoelstra, a long-time NBA executive who has guided the Portland Trail Blazers, Denver Nuggets, Buffalo Braves and New Jersey Nets. His grandfather, Watson, was a Detroit Tigers beat writer for many years. In his free time, Spoelstra enjoys spending time with his sons Santiago and Dante and daughter, Ruby, and their dog Rosie.
