BENCH POWER

The Warriors bench is averaging a league-leading 53.1 points per game. The highest team bench scoring in a single season, since 1970-71 when starters were first officially tracked is 53.2 points per game by the 2018-19 Los Angeles Clippers. The Warriors reserves have scored at least 40 points 12 games this season (11-1 record in those games). Four times the Warriors bench has scored at least 70 points, the last time was at Cleveland with 77 points. The Warriors' reserves have outscored their counterparts, 849-602 (53.1 ppg - 37.6 ppg), this season.

Golden State's bench has accounted for at least 40 points in 12 games this season (Warriors 11-1 in those games). To start the 2024-25 season, the Warriors reserves scored at least 40 points in 11 of the first 12 games this season, a first since starters were officially tracked in 1970-71, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. It also marked the first time in franchise history the Warriors' bench scored at least 40 points 11 times in an 12-game span during a single season. The Warriors reserves scored at least 50 points in eight of the first 12 games this season (7-1 record in those games). Five times this season the Warriors bench scored at least 70 points, most recently on November 8 at Cleveland (77 points). Only the Thunder reserves have outscored the Warriors' bench, 47-44, on November 10.

According to the Elias Sports Bureau, this was the first time the Warriors recorded at least 50 bench points six times in any single season seven-game span (October 23 - November 4), since starters were first tracked in 1970-71. The last team leaguewide to do it was the Pacers from Jan. 1-12, 2024 (in six of seven). There has been only one prior instance wherein any team had 50-or-more points from bench players in six-or-more of their first seven games of a season, since starters were first tracked in 1970-71: the 1999-00 Orlando Magic who did so in each of their first seven games that year.

Golden State's reserves scored 71 points in the season opener at Portland and 80 points at Utah in the second game. Since 1970-71 when starters were first recorded, this is the first time the Warriors bench has scored at least 70 points in consecutive games, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. The last NBA team to accomplish it was the Utah Jazz, Aug. 10-13, 2020. The Warriors' combined 151 bench points in the first two games are the most for the franchise since 1970-71 and the most by an NBA team since the Miami Heat tallied 170 bench points from April 7-9, 2023.

The Warriors' franchise-record home sellout streak, the sixth-longest in NBA history, is at 524 consecutive games, regular season and playoffs. On January 24 vs. Atlanta, the Warriors recorded their 500th consecutive home sellout (includes regular season and playoffs). The Warriors' current sellout streak ranks third among active streaks (Dallas, first; Miami, second).

The current sellout streak only includes games which allowed a full-capacity crowd (18,064 at Chase Center). Entering 2024-25 season, Dallas had 957; Miami, 596; Golden State, 518.

During the five-game road trip, the Warriors outscored (122.8 to 119.4 ppg), outshot from the field (48.1 to 44.9 FG%) and from the 3-point line (39.9 to 34.6 3P%) and outrebounded (48.4 to 45.4 rpg) their opponents. Golden State made 75 3-pointers and turned the ball over 64 times, the same number for the opponents during the five-game span. Stephen Curry led the Warriors with a 24.8 scoring average in four games. Jonathan Kuminga averaged 17.8 points per game off the bench in the five games. Buddy Hield had the third-highest scoring average during the road trip, averaging 14.8 points per game. WITHOUT STEPH

On October 27 vs. the Clippers, Stephen Curry exited the game with a left ankle sprain at the 7:55 mark of the fourth quarter and did not return. Curry missed three games due to a left peroneal strain but the Warriors won those three contests. Including last season, the Warriors have won six of the last 11 games Curry has missed. In 2023-24, the Warriors had a 3-5 record in games Curry missed - two games due to right knee soreness (11/14, 11/16), two due to rest (1/13, 4/7) and four because of a right ankle sprain (3/9, 3/11, 3/13, 4/14).

Since Curry began his NBA career with the Warriors in 2009-10, Golden State has an all-time 87-147 record in games he has not played in.

SAME TEAM, BACK-TO-BACK

The Warriors and Pelicans faced each other in two consecutive days at Chase Center, October 29 and 30. The last time the Warriors played the same team in consecutive days was during the 2020-21 season when they played the Pelicans at New Orleans on May 3 and 4, 2021. This two-game set against the same opponent in consecutive days in the same arena marks the 26th time this has happened for the Warriors (Golden State 11-14 in first game, 7-18 in the second game; swept both games twice, split 14 times and was swept nine times).

The last time the Warriors played the same opponent in two straight days at home was in 1969-70, against Detroit, on December 2 and 3, 1969, per the Elias Sports Bureau. Playing the same opponent in consecutive days at home has happened 15 times for the Warriors in franchise history.

His 49 points are the most for a Warriors reserve in their first two games of a season since 1970-71, when started were first officially recorded, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. He made 12 3-pointers in those two games, setting a new record for the most 3-pointers made in a player's first two games with a new team (prev. 11, Kevin Huerter with Sacramento in 2022-23) and the most 3-pointers made in the first two games as a Warrior (prev. 9, Dorell Wright in 2010-11).

CLEANING THE GLASS

In the first two games of the season, the Warriors outrebounded the Trail Blazers, 57-42 and the Jazz, 60-45. The Warriors finished the 2023-24 regular season ranked first in the NBA (46.8 rpg) in rebounding despite being the shortest team (averaging 77.6 inches or 6-foot-5 1/2), according to the Elias Sports Bureau.

On October 25 at Utah, Andrew Wiggins grabbed a game-high and career-high 13 rebounds, 10 coming in the first half, the most he's grabbed in any half in his career. Kevon Looney also recorded 10 rebounds off the bench. In 2023-24, there were 11 games in which the Warriors had at least two players grab at least 10 rebounds.

Hield scored his 22 points in 15 minutes, becoming only the second Warrior to score at least that many points in 15 minutes or less since 1960, joining forward Peter Thibeaux (pronounced TEE-boh), who tallied 22 points in 14 minutes on Dec. 12, 1984 vs. the Lakers, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. Since the merger in 1976-77, Hield is the only player with 22-or-more points in less than 15 minutes played in a season opener.

Hield made five 3-pointers, tied for the second-most made by a player in their Warriors debut with Stephen Jackson and Ricky Pierce. Young also made six 3-pointers in that season opener vs. the Rockets, the most 3-pointers made in a Warriors season opener.

- Podziemski had four consecutive games (2/2-2/7) without a turnover. Since individual turnovers started to be tracked in 1977-78, there are only two players to have 130+ minutes, 25+ assists and zero turnovers over a four-game span: Podziemski (136 minutes, 27 assists, 0 turnovers) from Feb. 2-7, 2024 and Phoenix's Kyle Macy (144 minutes, 25 assists, 0 turnovers) from April 10-16, 1982, according to the Elias Sports Bureau.
