HOT TAKES:

- The HEAT has held opponents to under 100 points 11 times this season, going a perfect 11-0 in those contests.
- Miami has eight games this month against teams that made the playoffs last season, tying for the most during a single month this season (November). The HEAT went 4-4 against playoff teams in November, with victories against MIN, IND, PHI and DAL.
- Terry Rozier III is just one point short of his 9,000th career point and one steal shy from his 600th career steal.

EMEA: Today's game will be part of the EMEA broadcast which includes the game being shown in primetime in Europe, the Middle East and Africa. It marks the 12th consecutive regular season that the NBA has scheduled certain weekend games that air in primetime in EMEA. In total, the game will reach fans in more than 100 countries and territories across EMEA through the league's broadcast partners in those regions.

TYLER FROM DEEP: Tyler Herro has now connected on a three-point field goal in 74-straight regular season games, the longest streak in team history. Additionally, he has made 79 consecutive when including the regular and postseason, also the longest overall franchise streak when including both. Below are both the longest regular season streaks and when also including the postseason in HEAT history.

TRIPLE-DOUBLES: Jimmy Butler posted a season-high 35-point, career-high 19-rebound, season-high 10-assist triple-double at DET on 12/16 while also not recording a single turnover. He is the first player in NBA history to record at least those totals without a single turnover (since turnovers were tracked in 1977). It marks Butler's 13th triple-double as a member of the HEAT, the most in team history. Additionally, Bam Adebayo posted a 14-point, 10-rebound, 10-assist triple-double earlier this season on 11/29 vs. TOR, the eighth of his career and the third-most in franchise history, and Jaime Jaquez Jr. recorded his first triple-double on 1/6 at SAC (16 pts, 12 rebs, 10 asts). ERIK SPOELSTRA (Portland)Regular Season Coaching Record: 770-547, currently in 17th seasonPostseason Coaching Record: 110-79, 13 postseason appearances

Erik Spoelstra is currently in his 17th season as head coach of the HEAT and his 30th as a member of the organization. He was elevated to his current position on April 28, 2008. Spoelstra has totaled 13 postseason appearances, nine division titles, six conference championships and guided the franchise to a pair of NBA titles. Recognized as one of the game's best coaches, Spoelstra was selected as one of the NBA's 15 Greatest Coaches in NBA History and has earned Coach of the Month honors 10 times, tying the sixth-most in NBA history.

In his previous 16 seasons at the helm, Spoelstra has made his mark on the HEAT record book as the winningest coach in franchise history. Entering this season, he holds team records in wins, winning percentage and games coached. His 13 postseason appearances in his previous 16 seasons tie the second-most over that span in the NBA as Spoelstra has never missed the playoffs in consecutive seasons since becoming head coach as he also holds HEAT postseason records in wins, winning percentage, series won and games coached.

When Spoelstra first took over the head coaching duties in 2008, he was given the task of improving a young team that had been ravaged by injuries the previous season and had won just 15 games. He then recorded 43 wins in his first season, the most by a first year HEAT coach in team history, while on his way to a postseason berth. Miami became just the second team in NBA history to make the playoffs after winning 15-or-fewer games the previous season. The only other team to do so was the 1968-69 San Diego Rockets, in which HEAT President Pat Riley was a member of.

From 2010-14, Spoelstra took one of the most scrutinized teams and guided them to consecutive NBA Championships, four-straight Conference Championships and four consecutive NBA Finals appearances, becoming just the third franchise in NBA history to make four consecutive NBA Finals appearances, joining the Celtics and Lakers. It also made them just one of 10 franchises in the four major North American sports leagues to make four consecutive trips to the league championship. Individually, Spoelstra became just the fourth head coach in NBA history to lead his team to four-straight Finals appearances joining Red Auerbach, K.C. Jones and Pat Riley. Spoelstra also joined a very elite fraternity when he led the HEAT to a seven-game series win over the San Antonio Spurs in the 2013 NBA Finals. Upon capturing the 2013 NBA Championship he became one of just 13 head coaches in NBA history to have won multiple championships and only the eighth to win a championship in consecutive seasons.

The 2012 championship culminated a compressed 2011-12 season in which Miami went 46-20 and captured its second consecutive Southeast Division title. The regular season was highlighted by a nine-game win streak (Feb. 10-Mar. 1) with each victory a double-digit win. During that streak the HEAT became the first team to win road games on three consecutive nights (Feb. 12-14) since December of 1979 and the first to win each of those contests by double-digits since the 1970-71 season.

Before taking over as the sixth head coach in HEAT history, Spoelstra had served Miami in a number of roles in his first 13 years. He was originally hired as video coordinator and over the years was promoted to assistant coach/video coordinator, assistant coach/advance scout and assistant coach/director of scouting, a title he held during Miami's 2006 NBA Championship, before ascending to head coach. He made a name for himself around the league with his game preparation and superb attention to detail. In his seven seasons as the HEAT's assistant coach/director of scouting, he had the primary role of developing game plans for upcoming opponents. To that end, he coordinated the video staff and advance scouts while overseeing the development of scouting reports and videos.

In 1992, he graduated from the University of Portland with a degree in communications. While attending Portland, Spoelstra was the starting point guard for four years and was named the West Coast Conference Freshman of the Year in 1989. Upon graduating he spent two years as a player/coach for Tus Herten, a team in the professional sports league of Germany.

He has returned to his native Philippines to host clinics and promote education, health and wellness to thousands of at-risk youth through grassroots programs and events. The nine-day program in Manila in the summer of 2011 was the largest NBA FIT event ever hosted in Southeast Asia under the NBA Cares umbrella. In the summer of 2012, Coach Spoelstra expanded his reach into other Southeast Asia nations by conducting coaches clinics and other FIT activities in Singapore.

Raised in Portland, OR, Spoelstra, who was inducted into the Jesuit High School Athletic Hall of Fame in September 2009, is the first Asian/Filipino-American head coach in any of the major North American sports leagues. Spoelstra is the son of Jon Spoelstra, a long-time NBA executive who has guided the Portland Trail Blazers, Denver Nuggets, Buffalo Braves and New Jersey Nets. His grandfather, Watson, was a Detroit Tigers beat writer for many years. In his free time, Spoelstra enjoys spending time with his sons Santiago and Dante and daughter, Ruby, and their dog Rosie.
